

Terms and Conditions:

The goal of The Business Councils Network is to provide a service that allows you to discover and receive content from sources that interest you and to share your content with others.

Each user is legally responsible of the content they provide. For this principle, The BCN administration will not monitor users except for the things specified below.

Content controls and the use of accounts on The BCN website and application:

- In order to benefit from The BCN website & application services, the ability to communicate and keep in touch with others; there are some restrictions on the type of content you can post. These restrictions comply with the legal requirements for publication. This is in order to make a better & suitable experience for everyone.
- The BCN Website and App may need to change these rules from time to time; the management team reserves the right to do so. In this regard, please keep checking for any update or change in the laws of The BCN site and application.

Impersonation:

You are not allowed to impersonate someone with the aim of misleading, confusing or deceiving others on The BCN website and application

Trademarks:

The administration of The BCN website and application reserves the full right to stop and recover user names on behalf of companies or individuals who own those trademarks if it is found that someone is using them illegally.

Accounts that use illegal business names or logos will be permanently blocked.

Privacy:

It is prohibited to publish or share private or confidential information of individuals with others, such as credit card numbers, address, social security card numbers, or national identity numbers without the express permission of these information' owners.

Threats and violence:

It is forbidden to post any kind of threats or verbal violence against others.

Copyrights:

The administration of The BCN website & application will always delete all content that violates copyright laws.

Illegal use:

It is not allowed to use the service provided by The BCN website & application for any illegal purpose or to promote and encourage illegal activities. Users agree to comply with all international laws related to the conduct of Internet use.

Abuse of The BCN website & application badges:

You are not allowed to use the account verification badge or the advertising account badge unless it is granted to you by The BCN website & application. Accounts that use these badges as part of their profiles, profile pictures, header images, background images, or in any other fraudulent way will always be suspended.

Inconvenience and attacks:

The BCN website & application strive to protect users from harassment and attacks. The practice of inconvenience and the misuse of technology are not tolerated or condoned in the identity of the business and will always lead to the suspension of these accounts. Any account that practices such activities will always be suspended

Duplicate accounts:

You may not create recurring accounts for disruptive or abusive purposes or to influence an opinion. Duplicate accounts will always be frozen. Please note that any violation of the business card laws may cause all accounts to be permanently suspended.

Inactive accounts:

Any account that has been inactive for more than six months will be removed without any notice.

Here are some of the factors a business card took into account when deciding the inactive account:

- The number of accounts created
- Creating accounts for the purpose of preventing others from using the names of those accounts only.
- Creating accounts for the purpose of selling them.
- Use applications and content feeds to update and manage accounts.
- Annoying Advertising: You will not use The BCN website & application to import your contacts in order to send annoying and repetitive group invitations.
- Selling user names: It is not permissible to buy or sell user names on The BCN website & application.
- Malware and scams: It is not permissible to publish links with malicious content intended to harm or disable the service of another user or in a way that opposes the privacy of the user.
- If you spread lies or misrepresentations.
- If you create fake or inactive accounts.

Hassle:

You will not use the services of The BCN website & application for the purpose of annoying anyone; otherwise you will be classified as "annoying".

Here are some of the factors we took into account to determine spam behavior:

- Follow a large number of people in a short period of time.
- Follow and unfollow people in a short period of time, especially if it is in an automated way (aggressive follow-up).
- Repeatedly following and unfollowing people extensively in order to gain attention.
- If you have a small number of followers compared to the number that you're following.
- Posting updates and non-personal activities consisting mainly of links.
- Posting deceptive and misleading links.
- If you get banned by a large number of people.
- If a large number of people report that you are annoying.
- If you publish any kind of activity across multiple accounts or through one account.
- If you publish frequent and multiple updates that are not related to the current topics, only to publicize them.
- If you send a large number of repeated replies or references.
- If you add a large number of users randomly to the lists in order to annoy them.
- If you repeatedly steal or publish other people's posts in your name.
- If you have tried to "sell" followers or used aggressive following.
- Create or buy accounts in order to get more followers.
- Using external applications for sites that claim to provide more followers.
- If you spread lies or misrepresentations.
- If you create fake or inactive accounts.

Porn:

- You are not allowed to use pornographic images in personal photos, header images or background images on all pages of The BCN website & application.
 - Your account may be subject to suspension if you violate any of the terms of service.
 - Please review the help pages in order to know the best methods and controls for automatic follow-up.
 - Accounts created to replace frozen accounts will be permanently frozen.
 - Accounts that violate any of these laws may be subject to monitoring and investigation.
 - Accounts that are monitored and investigated may be removed in order to maintain quality.
-
- The BCN website & application reserves the right to terminate your account without any notice in case that you violate any of the laws and terms of service.
 - All data, information and property rights are reserved to The BCN website & application.
 - We disclaim any responsibility for any commercial transaction between two or more companies. We also disclaim all responsibility for any acquaintance process and what may follow.
 - We disclaim any responsibility for any inconvenience caused by users, except in the case of sending an abuse report to the administration via e-mail.

The management of The BCN website & application has the right to prosecute anyone who misuses the site and application.

Signature of the authorized person in the account agreeing to the terms and conditions:

.....